

Keynote Sessions

Jeffrey Kiehl is a senior scientist in the Climate Change Research section at the National Center for Atmospheric Research in Boulder, Colorado. He has published over 100 papers on the topics of Earth's greenhouse effect, ozone depletion, the effects of air pollution on climate and the role of clouds in the climate system. Jeffrey has also served on a number of National Research Council committees and panels over the past 25 years. His current research interests include looking at the connection between global warming and biological extinctions in Earth's geologic past. Jeffery also has a MA in psychology and is interested in psychological factors that contribute to human's relationship to the environment.

David Lee King is the Digital Branch & Services manager at the Topeka & Shawnee County Public Library. He has years of experience in Web site and technology management. He has spoken in the United States and Canada about Web site usability and management, digital experience planning, and managing technology staff, and has been published in many library-related journals. David writes the Internet Spotlight column in Public Libraries Magazine with Michael Porter and maintains a blog at davidleeking.com.

Jeremy Frumkin holds the Gray Chair for Innovative Library Services at Oregon State University. In this position, he leads the digital library research and development group at OSU Libraries. He is also a Co-PI on the Ockham Initiative, and has led the development effort of the Ockham Digital Library Service Registry. Prior to his current position, he worked at the University of Arizona as a Metadata Systems Librarian for the University of Arizona Libraries' Digital Library Initiative Group. Frumkin maintains a blog at digitallibrarian.org.